Economic Development

Economic Development – Public Input

60%

Of respondents

Support limiting development to areas with infrastructure or near developed areas.

75%

Of respondents

support industrial development.

78%

Of respondents

agreed that it important to preserve the rural character throughout the County.

63%

Of respondents

agreed that it important to diversify the tax base.

87%

Of respondents

agreed that it important to protect agriculture and farming businesses.

73%

Of respondents

Support development of a regional food system.

Economic Development – Public Input

“Save our rural areas from being annexed into Austin. Austin has enough space to build houses and apartments. If more subdivisions are needed - clean up the blighted areas in Austin first!”

“Let's get more stores for us to shop. Kids and grand kids come home to visit and we have to go to Rochester for school clothes. What ever happened to Harbor Freight?”

“Better internet access to rural families at affordable costs. Rural is lagging way behind”

“Focus on attracting more manufacturing jobs other than Hormel. They generally pay well and look at towns like Owatonna where manufacturing is large and the type of community they have become”

“Growth will only happen when there is something to attract new residents.”

“We must invest in sustainable agriculture! Protecting our topsoil needs to be a top priority.”

“Do not take away precious farmland for housing or commercial development.”

Economic Development – Public Input

15. Would you support an increase in the county's tax levy to make these improvements in the community?

A wide-angle landscape photograph capturing a sunset or sunrise. The sun is a bright, glowing orb on the horizon, creating a powerful sunburst effect with rays of light radiating across the sky. The sky is filled with scattered, fluffy clouds that are illuminated from below, giving them a golden-orange hue. The foreground consists of a vast, flat field with distinct, wavy ridges, possibly from a plowed field or a natural dune pattern. In the distance, there are silhouettes of trees and a small, dark structure, possibly a barn or a house, on the left side. The overall color palette is dominated by warm tones of orange, yellow, and blue, creating a serene and inspiring atmosphere.

Let's Plan Our Future.
